

Battle of the Counties tourney at Syosset for a good cause

Joe Lombardi | 10/25/2011

Nothing beats lacrosse when it's for a good cause.

That will be the case on Saturday, Nov. 12 at Syosset High School when varsity and junior varsity teams will be competing in the Battles of the Counties Lacrosse Tournament.

A $1,000 donation will be made to the BraveGoals4Autism program.

The program was founded by Syosset junior defenseman Kyle Haber and two of his brothers, twins Ryan and Sean. Their youngest brother, Conor, 11, is autistic.

The mission of BraveGoals4Autism is to promote awareness, tolerance and acceptance for kids with autism, raise funds for autism programs across Long Island and increase the number of student volunteers involved in the initiative.

So far, they have raised more than $30,000 for the cause.

Action in the Nov. 12 tournament runs from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.
